Start of sales of the new LADA Largus

LADA announces the launch of the Largus family cars, which includes three models: passenger station wagon, Cross version and van. The new Largus has acquired a recognizable family design of the front part, a new spacious interior with improved ergonomics, new comfort options, as well as a new 1.6 l 90 hp engine. It is still a unique offer in the passenger station wagon market, thanks to the presence of a 7-seat version for passenger modifications.

Maximum comfort

LADA Largus received a new dashboard, multi-steering wheel with heating, rear view camera, multimedia with navigation and support for Apple Carplay / Android Auto, improved noise insulation, heated windscreen, rear seats, rain and light sensor, driver's armrest with storage box, new front seats with improved shape and new upholstery, cruise control. LADA Largus is a versatile car that has everything for daily trips, long-distance travel and work, the only 7-seat station wagon in its class (passenger versions) with a third row of seats. The basic equipment was supplemented with new equipment, including a central lock with remote control, a route computer and daytime running lights.

New engine

On the new basic engine, an updated connecting rod-piston group, a crankshaft, and a gas distribution mechanism were introduced. As a result, the power is increased to 90 hp, and 80% of the torque is already available at 1000 rpm, which reduces fuel consumption and reduces the frequency of switching. In addition, it eliminates the need to adjust the valves to a run of 90,000 kilometers. For older versions, the 1.6 L (106hp) engine is still available. Both engines are adapted to run on 92-m gasoline.

Prices and modifications

The starting price of the LADA Largus van in the Classic version is from 685,900 rubles. Cost of passenger versions (5 seats) it starts from 690,900 rubles. The price for the new Largus with the third row of seats-from 817 900. The Cross versions are also available in two versions (5 and 7 seats) at a price of 865,900 rubles.
