НОВЫЕ ГОРИЗОНТЫ

Start of sales of the renewed Niva Bronto

AVTOVAZ announces start of sales of the updated Niva Bronto. The SUV, created on the basis of the 3-door Niva Legend, has become even more comfortable and expressive, retaining its main advantages – uncompromising character and unsurpassed cross-country ability. The price for a LADA SUV starts from 917,900 rubles.

Off-road is his element. The Bronto easily copes with any road obstacles thanks to the unique all-wheel drive system. Its construction difference lies in the presence of self-locking screw differentials in the front and rear axles, as well as the main pair with an increased gear ratio of 4.1, which provide a more efficient transmission of torque from the transfer case to the wheels. In addition, the Niva Bronto has an improved body geometry (ground clearance 240 mm), a reinforced rear axle, modified shock absorbers with increased strokes in the front and rear suspension.

The updated Niva Bronto is offered in two versions - Luxe and Prestige. The Luxe package includes metal bumpers, comfortable rails, wheel arch extensions and powerful wheels that emphasize the masculine character of the model. The 15" alloy wheels come in combination with special tires with an active ground tread and an external diameter of 29 inches. In the Prestige version, the exterior is complemented by an original radiator grille and massive plastic bumpers, threshold protection, plastic wheel arch linings and fog lights.

The interior of the Niva Bronto received a number of stylistic and technical improvements already known for the Niva Legend model: an updated dashboard with a climate system, more comfortable heated seats, an Era-GLONASS system, an improved noise and vibration isolation package.

Additional certified equipment is available for both modifications, for example, the installation of a light panel on the roof, a special Camouflage paint, as well as a Comfort package with an audio system, a central lock and an alarm system.
